Sparkling Wines

When you think of Italian sparkling wines you automatically think of Prosecco but Italy has so much more to offer in a range of styles. Whether you're looking for a traditional Prosecco, a lighter drier Pignoletto, a more full bodied Franciacorta, or a stunning fresh or aged blanc de blanc champagne style Ferrari, we have them all

			125ml	175ml	Bottle
✓	Rosato Spumante	Ca di Alte, Veneto	11.5%	£4.75	£6.5	£27
	A fresh, fruity and complex sparkling rosé made from 80% merlot and 20% grenache
	Prosecco Collevento	Antonutti, Friuli	11%	£5.5	£7.5	£30
	A classic elegant prosecco with tiny bubbles, notes of fresh green apple and a crisp finish
✓	Pignoletto	Villa Cialdini, Emilia-Romagna	12%			£35
	Our search to find a delicious alternative to prosecco has ended - meet Pignoletto. From the rolling hills around Bologna, Pignoletto is made from the delightfully named Grechetto Gentile grape. Think prosecco but with added style and verve, just as easy drinking but a tad drier
✓	Grasparossa	Villa Cialdini, Emilia-Romagna	12%			£35
	A traditional dry Lambrusco sparkling red wine. Delicate, tangy and well balanced with pleasant refreshing acidity, floral notes and forest fruits on the finish
✓	Prosecco Giall'Oro	Ruggeri, Veneto	11%			£40
	An aperitif style prosecco with fruity aromas that produce a fresh and slightly sweet finish. This wine is versatile and perfect at the start of an evening or at the end of a meal
✓	Franciacorta DOCG	Fratus, Lombardy	12.5%			£45
	Franciacorta wines are widely regarded as the best sparkling wines in Italy and are more than a match for champagne. Made in the traditional method from chardonnay and pinot nero organic grapes. Fresh, and aromatic this wine is a joy to drink
	Perlé	Ferrari, Alto Adige	12.5%			£70
	This wine has an intense bouquet of particular finesse, dry crisp and elegant with hints of crusty bread and scents of almond blossoms and apples. A vintage blanc de blanc sparkling that has been aged for around 5 years
